There was a lot of ground covered in this class but I think I walked away with some pretty significant knowledge on theories.

I learned so much in this class! Each weekly topic is well organized, thorough, & follows a logical flow.

Everything was straightforward from the beginning and the professor was upfront about expectations. The readings and weekly assignment were rigorous and he did an exceptional job with the readings--choosing canonical work as well as recent studies that build upon or challenge some of the giants of the field. It seems a lot of thought went into the syllabus and Professor Reny worked with students in a very hands-on manner with feedback on projects, research suggestions and broader questions related to political science.

q10b_improveLrnTxt - 10b. If you wish, make suggestions about the changes in the course or the way it is taught that would in your estimation enhance student learning.

I am grateful that the class is taught in a hybrid manner. As a working professional, I would not have been able to take it otherwise. I do recommend that CGU develop some "best practices" for hybrid settings: in classroom participants need to refrain from side conversations and moving/shuffling of materials (it makes it too difficult to hear). Online participants should make sure their technology is in working order and high quality (muffled sound systems are just bad).

I have nothing to offer but high praise in the way the course was taught. Professor Reny was very receptive to changes as we went along (e.g. creating an abstract for our final project rather than just creating another project check-in) and encouraged students to not just engage the subject but also to think about broader questions and how it related to other fields of research.

3 hours concurrent course would be better than 2 hours concurrent and 1 hour asynchronous course because I felt the lack of time to discuss all the assigned readings within 2 hours.

Extremely grateful to have Professor Reny's guidance, support, and advice throughout the course.

Tyler is the best professor at CGU.

While I am early in the program and my frame of reference is somewhat limited, I honestly could not ask for a better professor. He was responsive to all of my emails, gave me great feedback on every paper as well as my final project. He also went out of his way to encourage me to be part of weekly presentations, attend Tuesday Talks and think about going to conferences. Any time I had a question--which was often, he had an answer or was able to get back to me. He is an amazing professor and hope to take as many classes with him as I can.

Dr. Reny is a great professor, not only does he know a ton about the subject matter, but the class is very thought provoking. Dr. Reny is particularly talented at guiding and moderating class discussions with regard to the material. Additionally, you can tell he knows the literature utilized in this class extremely well.
